Free StopORC Webinars to Offer Loss Prevention Foundation CEU Credits

Rancho Cucamonga, CA – October 1, 2013 – In a continuing effort to provide essential educational resources to loss prevention professionals on organized retail crime (ORC), the StopORC webinars, sponsored by Universal Surveillance Systems LLC (USS), will now offer Continuing Education Units (CEUs) in partnership with the Loss Prevention Foundation (LPF).

CEU credits for StopORC webinars will provide loss prevention professionals who are LPCertified (LPC) with credits to help meet the 20 CEU annual education requirement for recertification. LPC is an advanced certification for loss prevention managers, directors, and vice presidents who demonstrate a high degree of skill and knowledge in the loss prevention field.

“StopORC is providing excellent opportunities for loss prevention and law enforcement professionals to obtain quality ORC education. That is why LPF has approved and endorsed their webinars for continuing educational credits for our LPC certified professionals,” said LPF President, Gene Smith.

Adel Sayegh, founder of StopORC and USS President/CEO, said, “StopORC was created to actively target ORC and combat theft on a global level. We are delighted to join forces with LPF as we work together to accomplish a similar mission.”

The next StopORC webinar will be held on October 30th. To register, click <http://www.stoporc.org> or call 1-800-488-9097 for more information.
